Award Winners and Graduates
 Honored at San Diego Conference

With sunny San Diego as the backdrop, NACUSAC's 2017 Annual Conference and Expo kicked off with a look toward the future of the credit union movement with James Marshall, Manager of The Cooperative Trust of Filene Research Institute followed by a regulatory update from Sharon Lindeman of the California and Nevada Credit Union League. The next day three auditors with nearly a century of combined experience participated in an open Q&A session with conference attendees. Then, Dr. Elliot Eisenberg kept the group entertained with a relevant and informative economic forecast.

Michele Winston accepting Golden Service Award on behalf of Cecil Short

The presentation of the 2017 Golden Service and Associate Member of the Year Awards was another highlight of the meeting. Cecil Short, retired supervisory committee chairman of Educational Systems Federal Credit Union, was honored for his exemplary service on his supervisory committee, as well as 14 years serving on NACUSAC's Board of Directors. In addition to his volunteer service, Short was nationally recognized for his 38-year career in the field of education.
